GBP Dividend Reinvestment B Shares

IYDU vs GB Class 2020-2023

In this chart we compare the fund to the Stoxx 600 and the BI Global Oil Majors index, against the Rudolf Wolff Income Fund GBP Dividend Reinvestment B Shares. As can be seen all oil related stocks have been extraordinarily depressed in the current price environment and given the Fund's slight over-weighting in that sector, this has held back the recovery of the fund versus broader equities. However, we believe these prices do not represent the very low default risk present and instead show the considerable potential for uplift in the coming months.

As at 31 October 2023 data quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance of the Fund may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Data for the Fund shown are Net of Charges 01/10/19 to 31/10/23.

Portfolio Strategy

Invest in a weighted portfolio of income bearing financial instruments, preference shares and debt instruments issued by bank's, building societies and insurance/assurance groups, as well as general corporate debt. The Funds Bond strategy is designed to produce an attractive rate of income whilst maintaining the underlying asset value of investment. It may possibly suit those of your clients who are looking for higher returns than currently being offered by standard bank or building society deposit accounts. The income is distributed bi-annually, at the end of March and September. Investors may elect to have the income reinvested. The Fund does not at present utilise any leverage but may use limited leverage in the future. Currently approximately 69% of the Funds bond portfolio is in GBP issues, 28% in USD, and 3% in SEK.

Fund Commentary

The terrible escalation of hostilities between Israel and Hamas has had surprisingly limited impact on financial markets so far, perhaps because for now the conflict seems not to be spreading into a wider Middle East crisis. The US$ has come under pressure as the US economy appears to be on the slide, with the markets anticipating a Fed interest-rate cut as early as next summer. Maybe that soft landing isn't as elusive as most commentators have been suggesting.

Although there's been little movement in the Fund's NAV this month there has been some activity at a granular level in the portfolio. A full-scale refinancing at Lumen Tech appears more likely than ever. This will hopefully stabilise a situation which has been costly for the Fund. Shawbrook Bank is still in the running to buy CoOp Bank, which we think would be a positive credit event for Shawbrook. MetroBank is in the process of completing an equity raise and debt restructure, which is helpful for the Fund. IPF is conducting an exchange and open offer - the update provided to bondholders alongside the offer is very positive. And finally Alpha Plus Group has been taken over so is retiring its bonds early at Par.
