FACTSHEET 28 February 2022

IN TODAY'S INVESTMENT CLIMATE, THERE ARE A NUMBER OF PRESSING CONCERNS FACING THOSE WHO ARE SEEKING INCOME: LOW DIVIDEND YIELDS, INTEREST RATES, FALLING REAL ESTATE YIELDS AND UNCERTAIN BOND MARKETS.

GBP Dividend Reinvestment B Shares

RWIF vs STOXX 600, Oil Majors Index

In this chart we compare the fund to the Stoxx 600 and the BI Global Oil Majors index, against the Rudolf Wolff Income Fund GBP Dividend Reinvestment B Shares. As can be seen all oil related stocks have been extraordinarily depressed in the current price environment and given the Fund's slight over-weighting in that sector, this has held back the recovery of the fund versus broader equities. However, we believe these prices do not represent the very low default risk present and instead show the considerable potential for uplift in the coming months.

As at 28 February 2022 data quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance of the Fund may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Data for the Fund shown are Net of Charges 1/10/19 to 28/02/22.

Portfolio Strategy

Invest in a weighted portfolio of income bearing financial instruments, preference shares and debt instruments issued by bank's, building societies and insurance/assurance groups, as well as general corporate debt. The Funds Bond strategy is designed to produce an attractive rate of income whilst maintaining the underlying asset value of investment. It may possibly suit those of your clients who are looking for higher returns than currently being offered by standard bank or building society deposit accounts. The income is distributed bi-annually, at the end of March and September. Investors may elect to have the income reinvested. The Fund does not at present utilise any leverage but may use limited leverage in the future. Currently approximately 69% of the Funds bond portfolio is in GBP issues, 28% in USD, and 3% in SEK.

Fund Commentary

Amidst all the market turmoil caused by Russia's invasion of Ukraine, the Fund's NAV dropped by 2.19% in February (-2.89% year-to-date). It remains hard to see how the Ukraine crisis will play out so we make limited predictions here, other than to say that inflation is clearly going to remain very high in the short-term at least, and the pace of interest rate rises in the West will be slower than we were anticipating a month ago. From a portfolio perspective the Fund has no direct exposure to Russia or Ukraine. We also believe we have minimal indirect exposure to either country, although at times like these we should always be wary of systemic risks within the Financials sector, especially with the potential unintended consequences of wide-ranging sanctions and blockages in the banking payments system. March will be a busy month for the Fund. We have one large bond redemption and several coupon payments coming in, so will be looking to recycle that cash at advantageous yields. Income Class shareholders will receive their semi-annual dividend on or around March 25th.
